

Actions and Artifacts Speak Louder than Words

Are there artifacts and actions that reflect the opinions on issues of your person? If so, what?

Are there artifacts and actions that reflect the opinions on issues of your person's colleagues or group associations? If so, what?

What would add that might be historically relevant as an artifact?

If they had modern tools and methods of communication what would they do? (Provide examples.)

How did your person use technology to spread their message?

What ways did they use their rights and responsibilities as a citizen to express message and influence change?
